MXOtech Earns Women's Business Enterprise Designation

CHICAGO (March 12, 2008) – MXOtech, an innovative IT Consulting firm focusing on application development, network administration and staffing/consulting services, has been certified by the City of Chicago as a Women Owned Business Enterprise (WBE).

MXOtech President Joanna Sobran announced the certification, stating, "We are pleased to be part of the many hard-working, driven and proven successful women-owned businesses. The WBE designation allows us to extend our reputation for quality service and responsiveness to a wider range of firms."

Sobran added, "Our clients who provide services for the City of Chicago can now solicit our participation on projects." She said that MXOtech is in the process of applying for additional WBE certification from the State of Illinois.

MXOtech provides targeted solutions for technology consulting, staffing, network administration and application development needs of businesses from small to large. The company's credo is to cultivate meaningful relationships with partners and clients to identify solutions that are not only time and cost-effective, but also strengthen firms' bonds with their own customers.
